      “In an annotated bibliography, each citation is followed by an annotation that summarizes the source. Usually these annotations are two to five sentences long. Sometimes this abstract – this very condensed summary of the source – is introduced by a sentence or two that offers information about or evaluation of the author or the publisher.” 8. Briefly share how you think this assignment will help you in your future academic work. What skills did you have that helped you in starting the assignment, and

9. This assignment will be evaluated based on how relevant the sources are to your topic and your analysis of the sources in your annotations.
