Grades: 5th and 8th grades
Subjects: Social Studies, English/Language Arts
Time Required: 1-2 50-60 minute class periods
Author: Ashley Armstrong, Teaching With Primary Sources—MTSU

OVERVIEW
In this lesson, students use a number of primary sources to investigate how the Freedmen’s Bureau accomplished its goals. Students discuss both the immediate effects and the ultimate goals of emancipation and how the Freedmen’s Bureau contributed to the transition from slavery to freedom.

GOAL
Students will understand the ways in which the Freedmen’s Bureau attempted to assist former slaves to make the transition from slavery to freedom in many facets of their lives.

OBJECTIVES
The learner will
- Understand the challenges faced by African Americans after emancipation.
- Describe the purposes for which the Freedmen’s Bureau was originally established.
- Analyze primary sources to learn how the Bureau attempted to perform one of its functions.

INVESTIGATIVE QUESTIONS
1. What were the goals of the Freedmen’s Bureau?
2. In what specific ways did the Bureau attempt to assist the lives of the freedmen?

CURRICULUM STANDARDS
5th Grade Social Studies:
5.44 Explain the development and efforts of the Freedmen’s Bureau in helping former slaves begin a new life, including Fisk University.

5th grade English/Language Arts
5.RI.KID.2 Determine the central idea of a text and explain how it is supported by key details; summarize the text.
5.RI.1KI.9 Integrate information from two or more texts on the same topic in order to build content knowledge.
5.SL.CC.1 Prepare for collaborative discussions on 5th grade level topics and texts; engage effectively with varied partners, building on others’ ideas and expressing one’s own ideas clearly.
5.SL.PKI.4 Report on a topic or text, or present an opinion, sequencing ideas logically and using appropriate facts and relevant, descriptive details to support main ideas.

8th Grade Social Studies:
8.72 Explain the restrictions placed on the rights and opportunities of freedmen, including: racial segregation, black codes, and the efforts of the Freedmen’s Bureau to address the problems confronting newly freed slaves.

8th grade English/Language Arts
8.RI.KID.2 Determine a central idea of a text and analyze its development over the course of the text, including its relationship to supporting ideas; provide an objective summary.
8.RI.CS.6 Determine an author’s point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how the author acknowledges and responds to conflicting evidence or viewpoints.
8.SL.CC.1 Prepare for collaborative discussions on 8th grade level topics and texts; engage effectively with varied partners, building on others’ ideas and expressing one’s own ideas clearly.
8.SL.PKI.4 Present claims and findings in a focused, coherent manner with relevant evidence, valid reasoning, and well-chosen details; use appropriate eye contact, adequate volume, and clear pronunciation.

MATERIALS
- The Freedmen’s Bureau Act of 1865
- Primary Source Handouts #1-6
- Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet
- “Emancipation During and After the Civil War”
- "Hope Within a Wilderness of Suffering: The Transition from Slavery to Freedom During the Civil War and Reconstruction in Tennessee"

PROCEDURE

Step 1: PREPARATION—Prepare to display the Introductory Sources for the class. Print out copies of each of the source sets, and enough worksheets for each student. Plan how to divide students into six groups of 2 or 3 (4 or 5 if necessary in larger classes). Teachers may wish to read the background essays from the TPS-MTSU website before class: “Emancipation During and After the Civil War” and "Hope Within a Wilderness of Suffering: The Transition From Slavery to Freedom During the Civil War and Reconstruction in Tennessee”.

Step 2: Lead a group discussion. Ask students to describe the effects of the Emancipation Proclamation and the end of the Civil War on enslaved Americans. (They were freed.) Display Introductory Source #1 for the class: Emancipation / Th. Nast ; King & Baird, printers, 607 Sansom Street, Philadelphia. [1865]
Then ask students to imagine what would happen next in the life of a freed slave. Where would they go? What would they need or want? How would they live? What skills would they need to acquire? Do students think the right side of this image is an accurate portrayal of life after slavery? Ask the question: What would it take to transform the lives of African Americans from the life portrayed on the left side of this image to the life portrayed on the right?

Step 4: Conduct a “brainstorming” session with the class. What do they know about the Freedmen’s Bureau? When did it exist? What was its purpose? How is it remembered? Record answers on a board or overhead projection. Guide this session so students end with an understanding of the basic facts related to the Bureau.

Step 5: Display Introductory Source #2 for the class: The Freedmen’s Bureau Act of 1865. Read through the Act as a class, section by section. If necessary, allow extra time to discuss the meanings of unfamiliar words and concepts. Record on the board what students think the meaning/purpose of each section of the Act was.

Step 6: Explain that students will now be working in small groups with sets of primary sources. Each set is related to one aspect of the Bureau’s work. The students’ task is to use these sources to answer the questions on the Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet. Then they will use their sources to describe their aspect of the Bureau’s work to their classmates. Divide the class into groups of two or three and give each group one of the source sets and enough worksheets for each student to have one. In a large class you may need to create groups of four or five and split each set between sub-groups. Allow students time to analyze their sources and fill out their worksheets. Circulate among groups to address questions of vocabulary, etc.

Note: For 5th graders, you may wish to break this time into two segments. Have groups begin with their text source, reading carefully and noting any unfamiliar words. Then come back together as a class to share and discuss the new vocabulary. Return to small groups to finish analyzing the text sources and images.

Step 8: Have each group present their sources to the class.

Step 9: As a class, reflect on the final question from Step 2. Ask the students: Based on what they have learned today, did the Freedmen’s Bureau meet all the needs of the former slaves? What do they think the Bureau should have done differently?

EVALUATION

Use the following rubric to evaluate student participation in group work and discussion.

90-100  Thoroughly answers all questions on the Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet and fully participates in group work and class discussions.

80-89  Answers 4 to 5 questions on the Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet and participates in group work and class discussions.

70-79  Answers 2 to 3 questions on the Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet and participates minimally or either in group work or class discussions.

69 and below  Answers only 1 question or 2 or 3 questions minimally on the Freedmen’s Bureau Worksheet and does not participate in group work or class discussions.

EXTENSIONS

Have students analyze and then compare and contrast the portrayal of the Freedmen’s Bureau in the following three sources:

- “The freedman’s bureau” [1868]
- The Freedmen’s Bureau / Drawn by A.R. Waud, [1868]

THE FREEDMEN’S BUREAU ACT OF 1865

The Freedmen’s Bureau Act of 1865

March 3, 1865

CHAP. XC.—An Act to establish a Bureau for the Relief of Freedmen and Refugees.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That there is hereby established in the War Department, to continue during the present war of rebellion, and for one year thereafter, a bureau of refugees, freedmen, and abandoned lands, to which shall be committed, as herein-after provided, the supervision and management of all abandoned lands, and the control of all subjects relating to refugees and freedmen from rebel states, or from any district of country within the territory embraced in the operations of the army, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the head of the bureau and approved by the President. . . .

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of War may direct such issues of provisions, clothing, and fuel, as he may deem needful for the immediate and temporary shelter and supply of destitute and suffering refugees and freedmen and their wives and children, under such rules and regulations as he may direct. . . .

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the commissioner, under the direction of the President, shall have authority to set apart, for the use of loyal refugees and freedmen, such tracts of land within the insurrectionary states as shall have been abandoned, or to which the United States shall have acquired title by confiscation or sale, or otherwise, and to every male citizen, whether refugee or freedman, as aforesaid, there shall be assigned not more than forty acres of such land, and the person to whom it was so assigned shall be protected in the use and enjoyment of the land for the term of three years at an annual rent not exceeding six per centum upon the value of such land, as it was appraised by the state authorities in the year eighteen hundred and sixty, for the purpose of taxation, and in case no such appraisal can be found, then the rental shall be based upon the estimated value of the land in said year, to be ascertained in such manner as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe. At the end of said term, or at any time during said term, the occupants of any parcels so assigned may purchase the land and receive such title thereto as the United States can convey, upon paying therefor the value of the land, as ascertained and fixed for the purpose of determining the annual rent aforesaid.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

APPROVED, March 3, 1865.

II. But it is not the intention of government that this bureau shall supersede the various benevolent organizations in the work of administering relief. This must still be afforded by the benevolence of the people through their voluntary societies, no governmental appropriations having been made for this purpose. . . .

IV. The educational and moral condition of these people will not be forgotten. The utmost facility will be afforded to benevolent and religious organizations and State authorities in the maintenance of good schools, (for refugees and freedmen,) until a system of free schools can be supported by the reorganized local governments. Meanwhile, whenever schools are broken up by any authorized agent of the government, it is requested that the fact and attendant circumstance be reported to this bureau. . . .

To prevent starvation and death among the freed people during the rapidly approaching winter, officers and agents of this Bureau will make immediate and vigorous efforts to provide all freed people, who may be out of employment, with opportunities for labor where fair compensation and kind treatment will be secured to them. This is the only practicable and comprehensive plan of providing for their necessities, and to this all homes, asylums, hospitals, or other modes of furnishing relief, will be regarded as subsidiary and for temporary use only.

4th. Rations will not be issued, or other aid given, to able-bodied refugees or freed people who are offered, or can find, opportunities to labor for their own support, and who neglect or refuse to do it. Only such persons of either class as have sufficient means, or who are so permanently employed as to make it probably that they will be able to provide for their own wants through the coming winter, will be allowed to remain in or about cities and towns, but must be compelled, if necessary, to go to the country and accept places of labor found by themselves or for them, by officer or agents of the Bureau.

Marriage Rules.

To correct as far as possible one of the most cruel wrongs inflicted by slavery, and also to aid the freedmen in properly appreciating and religiously observing the sacred obligations of the marriage state, the following rules are published for the information and guidance of all connected with this Bureau throughout the States of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida:

Section I.

  Parties Eligible to Marriage. 1.—All male persons, having never been married, of the age of twenty-one, and all females, having never been married, of the age of eighteen, shall be deemed eligible to marriage.
  2.—All married persons who shall furnish satisfactory evidence of either the marriage or divorce of all former companions, according to the usages of slavery, or of their decease, will be eligible to marriage again.
  3.—All married persons, producing satisfactory evidence of having been separated from their companions by slavery for a period of three years, and that they have no evidence that they are alive; or, if alive, that they will ever, probably, be restored to them, may be allowed to marry again.

Section II.

  Parties authorized to grant Permits of Marriages.  1.—All religious societies or churches of the freedmen or of other persons, whose organizations are recognized by their respective denominations, are authorized to grant permits for marriage, provided:
     First. That the parties are of lawful age, and that neither have never been married.
     Second. That if either or both have married, that such party has complied with the conditions of Sec. 1.,
Rules 2 and 3.
  2.—Any society or church, having an ordained pastor, may delegate to him its power to examine applicants and grant permits for marriage. Such power, however, may be revoked at any time.
  3.—Civil officers may give permits for marriages, if the laws of the State provide for the same, and such laws are recognized as in force by the General Government. . . .
