Lesson Plan: America and World War I

Grades: 9-12
Subjects: U.S. History, English
Time Required: 3 class periods (50-60 minutes each)
Author: Victor Bright, Cane Ridge High School (Metro Nashville Public Schools)

OVERVIEW

This project-based lesson is specifically designed to motivate students and challenge them to examine, analyze and evaluate the causes and consequences of World War I. In this lesson, students will analyze sources related to major events during World War I. In addition, students will be provided with the opportunity to discover the reasons why the United States entered into World War I and summarize the implications this decision had on American society.

UNDERSTANDING GOAL

Students will engage in in-depth inquiry so that they can understand more clearly the causes of World War I, the reasons the United States entered the war in 1917 and the consequences of the war.

OBJECTIVES

The student will
- Identify the long-term causes and immediate circumstances that led to World War I.
- Explain why the United States entered the war.
- Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, connecting insights gained from specific details to an understanding of the text as a whole.
- Determine and assess the consequences of World War I.
- Evaluate various explanations for actions or events during World War I, and determine which explanation best accords with textual evidence.

INVESTIGATIVE QUESTIONS

- When American lives were threatened by German aggression, how did Americans react to President Woodrow Wilson’s response to this aggression?
- When the United States became involved in World War I, how did it make the world “safe for democracy”?
- How could President Wilson’s response to the events of World War I been more timely and appropriate to better protect American interest?
Curriculum Standards

English Language Arts:

11-12.RI.KID.2 Determine multiple central ideas of a text or texts and analyze their development; provide a critical summary.

11-12.RI.KID.3 Analyze how an author’s choices regarding the ordering of ideas and events, the introduction and development of ideas, and connections among ideas impact meaning.

11-12.RI.IKI.7 Evaluate the topic or subject in multiple diverse formats and media.

U.S. History Standards:

US.23 Explain the causes of World War I and the reasons for the initial declaration of U.S. neutrality.

US.24 Explain the reasons for American entry into World War I, including: the use of unrestricted submarine warfare, the Zimmerman Telegram, the defense of democracy, and economic motivations.

US.26 Analyze the political, economic, and social ramifications of World War I on the home front, including: Role played by women and minorities; Voluntary rationing; Committee on Public Information; Opposition by conscientious objectors; Schenck v. United States decision

US.27 Analyze the significance of President Woodrow Wilson’s Fourteen Points, the causes and effects of the U.S. rejection of the League of Nations, and the subsequent impact on world politics.

PROCEDURE

Day One

Step 1  As an entry event, student will view The United States and World War I Animoto Presentation. Students should complete the Descriptive Terms & Phrases worksheet while viewing the presentation.

Step 2  Provide students with an opportunity to share their responses with their classmates in a whole group discussion. All students that want to share should be encouraged to share.

Step 3  Next, students will view World War I PowerPoint, and complete the Historical Events Investigative Worksheet.

Step 4  Finally, the teacher will provide students with the opportunity to create a brochure displaying the major events of World War I (see page 5 for instructions), or they can create a three dimensional newspaper of the key ideas, people and/or events of World War I (see page 6 for instructions). Students should complete these projects by the third class meeting, and they should be ready to present their finished product to the entire class. Any remaining class time can be used to allow students to start researching their projects.

Day Two

Step 5  Tell students that they are now going to take on the role of an historical investigator. Their objectives will be to connect with, investigate, and analyze primary sources from the World War I era. While using primary sources in the classroom, teachers should use the primary source analysis guide to promote engaging meaningful discussions.

Step 6  Assign students to investigative teams that consist of about 3 - 4 students per team. Have students determine their specific team roles and responsibilities. Students should also appoint a team leader to head the investigation. The teacher should circulate throughout the room to ensure that students stay on task and monitor student progress.

Step 7  Ask each investigative team to find at least three primary sources such as photographs, letters, journals, and government documents that highlight American propaganda from the World War I. Students should complete a student Primary Source Analysis Tool for each source they select. To locate their sources, students should use one of the following digital collections:

- Experiencing War: Stories from the Veterans History Project - World War I The Great War
- “From the Home Front and the Front Lines”
PROCEDURE (cont.)

Day Two

- Newspaper Pictorials World War I Rotogravures 1913-1919
- The Stars and Stripes: The American Soldiers’ Newspaper of World War I, 1918-1919
- World War I Posters

If your students do not have access to a computer lab, teachers will need to pre-select sources and print them out.

Step 8
To conclude the lesson, the lead investigator from each group will share their findings with the class. Students will compare and contrast their different points of view as it relates to the primary sources under investigation.

Day 3

Step 9
Students will present their projects to the class and engage in a gallery walk and provide other students feedback as it relates to their presentations.

Step 10
Projects should be displayed “gallery-style” in a way that allows students to disperse themselves around the room. Projects can be hung on walls or placed on tables. Students should be organized into small groups, as they move around the room in an orderly manner. The teacher should allocate a specific amount of time for the evaluations of each of the displayed projects. The most important factor is that the projects are spread far enough apart to reduce significant crowding.

Step 11
Viewing instructions will depend on the teacher’s goals for the activity; some teachers might want students to take informal notes as they walk around the room. At the same time, if the purpose of the gallery walk is for students to take away particular information, you can create a graphic organizer for students to complete as they view the “exhibit,” or compile a list of questions for them to answer based on the projects on display. Sometimes teachers ask students to identify similarities and differences among projects. Teachers give students a few minutes to tour the room and then, once seated, ask them to record impressions about what they saw. Also, students can take a gallery walk on their own or with a partner.

Step 12
Ask students to evaluate the gallery walk activity using the Student Assessment Worksheet.
EVALUATION

Historical Investigation Worksheet 15pts
Descriptive Terms and Phrases Worksheet 10pts
Primary Source Analysis 25pts
Brochure or Newspaper Project 50pts

See grading rubrics on pages 9-11 to assess brochure and newspaper projects.

EXTENSION

Allow students to revise their projects based on teacher and class feedback. Then allow students to set up exhibits in the hallway or library to share with other classes, teachers, administrators, and parents. You might even organize an afterschool event to allow students to show off their work to the community.

WORLD WAR I MAJOR EVENTS BROCHURE ACTIVITY

Directions:
The purpose of this assignment is to gain a better understanding of how America was involved in World War I. For this assignment you will create a brochure that explores some of the major events of World War I. You will report on at least four major events. The brochure should be organized on a trifold poster board and address each of the questions below. Include pictures and/or drawings for each of the events that are covered in your presentation.

Possible Events: Propaganda dissemination, the Zimmermann Telegram, the Sinking of The Lusitania, the Formation of the League of Nations, President Wilson’s 14 Points, the Signing of the Treaty of Versailles, the Selective Service Act etc.

1. Where did this event take place?
2. Was there any specific technology used in this event?
3. What was the outcome of the event?
4. When did this event take place?
5. How did this event affect the outcome of the overall war?
6. Which nations were involved in this event?
7. Why was this event important?
8. Who was involved in this event?
WORLD WAR I NEWSPAPER ACTIVITY

Directions:
Students are to create a 3-dimensional newspaper using an empty cereal box. On the front of the box students are to include at least two stories and an attention-getting headline that address the political, economic, and military aspects of the war. Be sure to include a visual representation of the stories.

In addition, on one side of the box students should include advertisements from the time period, and on the other side students should include an editorial column. On the back of the cereal box students should include at least three stories that cover the social issues of the day taken from the perspective of ordinary Americans. Students can use Chronicling America to look for examples of newspapers from the time period.

Students should also incorporate the following guidelines into the creation of their newspapers:
- Attention-getting headlines, colorful graphics & pictures
- A strong lead containing 5 W’s and H (who, what, when, where, why, and how)
- Quotations (we like to hear what others have to say about the topic of the story)
- True, accurate facts
- A strong summary
- Information presented from most to least important
- Source citations for validity and reliability

Edit your work, checking to see that all required parts (listed above) are included and verifying that you have used the following in your writing style:
- Active voice
- Precise, concise wording
- Interesting and varied word choices
- Unbiased reporting
